

THE POLICE WHISTLE

Alfred Jakobson, who was dismissed from the force Nov. 20, 1942, for refusing to give up his outside defense job, had the decision upheld by Judge McNally on Sept. 3rd, and is appealing the decision to the Minnesota Supreme Court.

Al Krogstad, while directing traffic in the loopsaw a chicken crawl thru the wire fencing of a truck and head east on 7th St. Al thought he understood the farmer to say he could have it if he caught it, and figuring on saving a few red points, went after the chicken and caught it. Evidently the farmer had a change of mind because he took the chicken back and thanked Al for his trouble.

SPORTS EVENTS: Henry Winterhalter got a shirt and necktie torn to shreds and Jim Fahey got kicked in the face by a drunk -- Jim Cook took a sock in the jaw while objecting to a couple fighting, and Willie Weese and Frank Nicolin went pig chasing.

John Dox and Anthony Tighe received a radio call about an escaped prisoner from workhouse living in their district. He wasn't home, but they found him hiding inside a dress on the clothes line in the back yard. Again -- they got their man.

DIED -- Mothers of Rudolph Schuster, Walter Yetter and Anthony Cullen
